

Hypnosis (Damien Rice)

When you know who you are,

And can see through your veils,

Your old fears become wind in your sails,

Then your heart heat unfurled,

From the hypnosis of your world,

When you know who you are,

The darkness the light, love loves it all,

Cause love has no fight, what has passed is a dream,

What is not here is not what it seems,

So pull yourself together now,

When you know who you are,

And have nothing to hide,

Loves at your feet and the hands at your side,

When yours ears are your words,

The silence can always be heard,
